Read the following passage and the answer questions 40-50

Excuse me Sir, may I go out? Janet asked, "Yes, Janet you may." The teacher said, Sometimes we do not use the appropriate language, when addressing other people especially people who are senior to us. Janet has used very polite language. She has good manners. Even when addressing our classmates it is good to use polite language like; Thank you, Sorry, May I? etc. Sometimes when we enjoy our friends we do not tell them that we are sorry and this increases enmity. If we want to use a certain path and there is someone on the way, it is good to say "excuse me".

Good manners help us live in harmony with other people. If you do not show respect to people they will not respect you in return. That applies to our teachers and parents as well, when they do something good we should say "Thank you"
